I have one in my classroom and have now started giving them as gifts to people who see mine and love the idea. This one is great, the states are in different colors so this is great for kids. With that said, it is great for adults too, as it doesn't look child-like; it is great for all ages. Once you put the quarter in though, it is tough to get out (you have to pry it out-though it is not impossible), so be sure that if kids are putting them in that you double check first that they are putting the quarter in the right location. Also, this particular map is the best I've seen, and I have seen another one that looks similar, but isn't this one; even when you look at the pictures, two different maps are shown...be sure you are buying the Whitman State Series listed since I notice there are more than one seller. Anyway, have fun, this is really a great purchase, nice quality, not too expensive, and something you could keep on a shelf or display since the colors aren't too bright and it has a hole in the top corners so you could hang it. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good Purchase

By Kelsey
My boyfriend is a transfer student and I bought him this to help him organize the quarters as he tries to collect them all. He had been taping them to the wall before, so when I found this map that would display them on the wall it was perfect. I'm quite pleased with it. I see other people have complained about getting the cardboard place-holders out of the map to put the quarters in. My suggestion is to use a sharp knife and patience. After a learning curve we were able to get them out without damaging the map or anything else (he wanted to keep the cardboard inserts for a separate project). We've not tried to remove any quarters we put in, so I can't vouch for that, but I suspect the knife would work just as well. Great for the money. Even if we don't find all the quarters it's a great way to display the rest of them. I'd recommend it. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Fantastic Learning Opportunity for the Whole Family
By Sue
Just received these (I bought two) and my 6 year old has scoured the house for all the quarters she can find. We're learning the dates each became a state, the seal of each state, and it even includes the American Territories which is a bit more learning. The folder is hard and durable and once the quarters go in, they're not coming out! (We tried). Incidentally we put a couple of National Park Quarters into the states without realizing they were National Park Quarters. So now I'm off to find a similar item to begin our collection of the National Park Quarters . . . and I need another one of these since my soon to be 3 year old would like her own too!

Collectors interest has skyrocketed since it was announced that DC and the territories will get their own quarter program. These unprecedented programs end soon. After the final quarter is released to the public, you will slowly have fewer chances of finding all 56 coins in your pocket change. Start collecting these beautiful pieces of history today!
